

A Reason for the Season

Have you ever just taken the time to enjoy the seasons as they change?

I'm sure we all have our favorite season. It could be watching caterpillars turn into beautiful butterflies, have a water gun/water balloon battle, take a hot air-balloon ride, build a snowman or go ice fishing. #YouGetMyDrift...

Spring which is my favorite season when temperatures are moderate, there is more daylight and days begin lasting longer and nights shorter, birds return, flowers are in bloom, and leaves come back, it's easy to find fresh produce, you tend to be more active and get your vitamin naturally.

Summer we tend to eat more fruit and vegetables, an excellent time to begin an exercise regime and burn up excess calories, increase water consumption and enjoy more outdoor activities (sailing, volley ball, picnics at the lake/park to name a few).

Autumn leaves changing colors into beautiful hues of gold, red, and orange, arts and crafts, fashion, cooler weather, you get to enjoy the fun foods pumpkin lattes, pumpkin spiced teas and coffee, caramel apples, turkey and mashed potatoes, oh yes...Thanksgiving.

Winter is the "Most Wonderful and Beautiful Time of the Year" oh yes.....hanging wreaths and colorful lights for the Holidays, curled up in front of the fire place with a cup of hot chocolate, skiing and snowboarding in the mountains, shopping and exchanging gifts, enjoying family while looking out the window as the snow falls.

New Year's Day is the beginning of resolutions for the coming year (that most of us don't keep), dressing up and celebrating with friends and toasting with champagne. It's the night owl's holiday and designed to celebrate late and the count down to the New Year at the stroke of 12:00 midnight.
